A concept all began in a movie theater back in November while watching a documentary called Girl Rising. It has blossomed into an exciting 1st event of its kind. Girls throughout the entire Tredyffrin Easttown School District are joining forces with girls of The Lacrosse Academy to raise awareness and funds for the education of young woman around the world. In the world today there are over 500 million girls that can't read or write. We are trying to do our part to help girls improve their lives through education locally and globally. We can make a difference, and we will make a difference.
